March 7, 2011 – Smithtown, NY – North Shore Eye Care, a leading, specialized eye care practice based in Smithtown, Long Island, has been named the Official Eye Care Provider of the New York Islanders.

North Shore Eye Care offers comprehensive eye care services including, but not limited to, Custom Bladeless LASIK, advanced cataract surgery, eye plastic surgery, retina and glaucoma care, and hearing services.

Islanders Vice President Mike Bossy, former NHL All-Star and four-time Stanley Cup champion, said: “We are pleased to select North Shore Eye Care as the Official Eye Care Provider of the New York Islanders.”

The Board Certified surgeons at North Shore Eye Care have been consistently named as TOP DOCTORS by Castle Connolly, an independent medical publishing company, as featured in New York magazine, the New York Times and Newsday.

“We are proud to be associated with the Islanders organization and share their long-term vision of serving the communities and people of Long Island for many decades to come,” Dr. Jeffrey Martin, a Board Certified LASIK and cataract surgeon at North Shore Eye Care, said. “Their endorsement of our practice provides even greater encouragement to our surgeons and staff to continue upholding the high standards of patient care and service that our practice has provided for over 50 years.”

North Shore Eye Care was established 50 years ago by Dr. Sidney A. Martin and is currently served by his son Jeffrey Martin, MD FACS, as well as Lawrence Zweibel, MD FACS, and John Mauro, DO.

The practice recently added hearing services (audiology) to the practice that are rendered by Dr. Robyn Shapiro, Au.D.
